Development (LED)
Welcome to the Local Economic Development course entitled "It Takes a Leader: Championing Local Economic Development in the Philippines. This course will introduce local economic development (LED) as a sustainable and locally driven process. Sustainable local economic development is a multi-stakeholder and participatory process wherein the public sector, businesses and non-government sector partner together to create better conditions for economic growth, leading to employment generation and the improvement of the quality of life of the citizens.
This course covers basic concepts, processes, approaches, and models of sustainable LED. It will also highlight the current state of LED in the country, and the national enabling policies and strategies on LED. Likewise, this course will also showcase good LGU practices that demonstrate how innovation and collaborative partnerships are the hallmarks of an effective LED leadership. An innovative local leader is imbued with values and principles that compel him/her to make personal responses, in collaboration with key stakeholders, to address complex LED issues.
